Many of us only buy a car every few years or so. But once you have chosen the car to buy, you should ensure that you have an expert check and report on what you cannot see.

To give you peace of mind before you buy your next car, you should have it professionally checked with one of the most advanced systems available.

Using specially developed software, an MTA Pre-Purchase Inspection can report the condition of the car to you before you buy it.

All our inspections are conducted by skilled professionals using handheld technology which is downloaded to a central server. A copy of your report will be printed on the spot for you, and also emailed in pdf format for your records. No more squashed or difficult handwriting to read, your report is computer generated so you can see everything easily and clearly.

Additionally, if you are selling your car and you would like people to view your report, a link can be put on the internet with your advertisement and potential purchasers can view the report.

ABOUT THE REPORT

An MTA Pre-Purchase Inspection report will give you a reliable overview of the mechanical condition of the vehicle.

All MTA Pre-Purchase Inspections are carried out by MTA member businesses that satisfy our stringent criteria.

Every technician who carries out an inspection has been specially trained to provide you with a highly reliable report on the vehicle.

So, give yourself some peace of mind and before you buy your next vehicle have it professionally checked by an expert.
